TORCHY COMEDIES

Recent Reviews

"BATTLING TORCHY." "Here's a winner." It is not only one of the most enjoyable of the Torchys Comedies, but it is a worthy competitor of any comedy on the market. C. C. Burr has continually offered consistent laugh-getters, and Johnny Hines was never seen to better advantage than in "Battling Torchy." The story is a good one in the first place, the titles are funny without punning, and there are high class gags following one another in rapid fire order. Few prize fight scenes have been done more realistically or amusingly than that which occupies the latter half of the second reel of "Battling Torchy."—Matt Taylor in the MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

... "whose work in 'Battling Torchy' has won the unanimous and hearty approval of every critic who has viewed the picture."—"Reel Facts."

"TORCHY TAKES A CHANCE." "An amusing comedy built around a lottery ticket that wins a prize. The gags follow one another in rapid succession, the business is clever and no time wasted. 'Takes a Chance' is one of the best of the series, and will entertain any audience. It is full of good comedy work and has an abundance of laughs."—The Film Daily.

"TORCHY TAKES A CHANCE." "Was the comedy feature at the New York Strand for the week of March 5. The picture was well received by a large afternoon house. And one of the cleverest pictures made by the popular 'Torchy' of the screen, played last week at the Strand theatre."—Exhibitors' Trade Review.

"TORCHY'S KNIGHTHOOD," with Johnny Hines. A corking good comedy. All of the Torchys subjects are well received here.—H. J. Graybill, Family theatre, Bridgeport, Ohio.—Neighborhood Patronage.

"TORCHY A LA CARTE." "A very enjoyable comedy. Plenty of stunts. It kept them laughing from beginning to end."—Exhibitors' Report.

"TORCHY A LA CARTE," with Johnny Hines. "A very enjoyable comedy. Plenty of stunts. It kept them laughing from beginning to end."—H. J.

THE BOOKING GUIDE

THE first issue of the Booking Guide was published in December last and contained information on all pictures released between September 1, 1920, and September 1, 1921.

There were over 5,000 copies of this edition placed in the hands of the theatre owners of the country.

Over 500 letters were written to us stating in brief—

“The Booking Guide is the greatest exhibitor help ever issued in the Motion Picture Industry.”

Some theatre owners of the country can not and do not book pictures on a first run basis. Some even are forced to wait to show pictures until they are as much as two years old. Information on these pictures is very difficult to secure.

At times it is even impossible to secure any kind of Producer aids or discuss exploitation problems with the salesman. Even when this is possible it is not as satisfactory as securing information from a neutral source.

This does not only apply to the small houses in the small locality, but it applies as well to the second and third run houses—the community houses in the larger towns and others who are shopping for good pictures which they have not shown but which are new in their localities.

It is well to remember that the pictures that make the big money are not always the current releases. As one theatre man told me—“I find that, in my booking, I have overlooked many a good bet which I snap up at the first opportunity no matter how old the picture is.”

This at once makes a field for the Booking Guide. It is a reference book and exploitation aid.

--A PRONOUNCED SUCCESS

Every six months we get out a new edition covering the pictures which have been released during the previous six months. We give all information on these pictures and, tied up with a file of MOTION PICTURE NEWS, the exhibitor immediately has a source of information which is greater than could possibly be secured from any other channel.

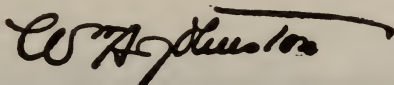

Don't use the Booking Guide alone—use it in conjunction with MOTION PICTURE NEWS.

Further than this, remember that the Booking Guide gives information on ALL pictures—those independently released and those released by the large distributing companies. Remember that the State Rights man has good pictures which you may have overlooked. Remember that in order to properly satisfy your patrons you must keep in touch with the entire market.

By using the Booking Guide you can do this. You can choose pictures so that you will be in a position to go to the various elements of your community—the church, school, lodge,—all your prospective patrons and give them the kind of pictures upon which you can demand patronage. In other words, select your pictures; don't have them forced on you.

Remember that the pictures you show must have the endorsement of the newspapers, the school teachers, the clergymen and others.

In order to get this your buying must be selective and the only way to select is with the help of a proper reference book. This book is the MOTION PICTURE NEWS BOOKING GUIDE.

THEATRE EQUIPMENT

STAGE AND THEATRE ILLUMINATION, VENTILATION, PROJECTORS, SCREENS, ETC.

CONSTRUCTION AND REMODELING

COMPETENT ENGINEERING NECESSARY TO INSURE SAFETY IN THEATRE CONSTRUCTION.

An article written by a theatre engineer which was stimulated by the recent failures in theatre buildings. Some of the acceptable and commendable practices in theatre construction are pointed out in this description.

Reference: February 25, 1922, page 1278.

HOW AN ELEVEN HUNDRED-SEAT HOUSE WAS RENOVATED AT SMALL COST.

An enterprising and efficient manager therein tells how, with a very limited expenditure, he remodeled this large theatre. His methods of shopping for his materials and equipment might well be followed by others.

References: December 10, 1921, page 3081.

FIRE PREVENTION

UP TO EXHIBITORS TO SPREAD GOSPEL OF FIRE PREVENTION.

Contains the necessity of fire prevention. Statistics of annual losses in the United States.

References: October 8, 1921, page 1897.

FLOOR COVERING

A POPULAR FLOOR COVERING IN MOVING PICTURE THEATRES.

An article on linoleum and cork carpet for the motion picture theatre containing information describing the advantages of this flooring, and also general advice on the best method of laying, etc.

References: December 3, 1921, page 2965.

ILLUMINATION AND MODIFIED LIGHTING

ADAPTING COLORED LIGHT TO THE MOTION PICTURE THEATRE.

The first of a series of articles by A. L. Powell, who is recognized as possibly the leading expert on this and allied subjects. This general subject of illumination of the theatre and stage along with the connection of light and music is treated in the issues of January 28, February 4, 11, 18, 25, March 4 and 11.

References: January 28, 1922, page 777.

VARIOUS EFFECTS MAY BE OBTAINED THROUGH COLORED LIGHTING.

A. L. Powell, in the second of his series of articles treating on "Colored Lighting in the Motion Picture Theatre," has here endeavored to point out the differences between the action of lighting and pigments; the composition of color; the fact that in practice we are not generally dealing with pure color; the necessity for examining colors and experimenting with the various combinations to secure the desired results, and finally, giving an example of the effect of color on scenery. This series of articles should help the exhibitor in his attempt to present colored lighting in its most effective forms. The possibilities along these lines are unlimited.

References: February 4, 1922, page 907.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LIGHTING VARIOUS PARTS OF THE THEATRE.

Mr. Powell, in the third of his series on "Colored Lighting in the Motion Picture Theatre," points out the probable course along which lighting methods will be carried in the future. Comment is made on the present practice of studding huge fixtures with colored lamps so that the fixture becomes the center of attraction. Also the attempt is made to point out that in the future more delicate subtle effects will be secured.

References: February 11, 1922, page 1043.

SUPPLEMENTING THE GENERAL THEATRE ILLUMINATION WITH SPECIAL EFFECTS.

Continuation of a series of articles by A. L. Powell in which he discusses the splendid opportunities which confront the exhibitor for securing various distinguishing effects through special lighting. Special lighting will bring objects such as artistic vases, statues, architectural designs and the like which are usually totally unnoticed, to special attention, laying additional stress and beauty on same. Extremely striking lighting effects may be obtained at almost no expense.

References: February 18, 1922, page 1159.

APPLICATION OF COLORED LIGHT IN CONNECTION WITH MUSIC.

A discussion by A. L. Powell on why the rapidly increasing number of motion picture theatres are adopting in some form or another the use of modified illumination to produce an atmosphere which is in harmony with the music. Mr. Powell has endeavored to point out the importance of this subject to the motion picture theatre, the wonderful opportunities for experimentation which it possesses, the fundamental points of similarity and difference between light and sound.

References: February 25, 1922, page 1277.

COLORED LIGHTING PROVIDES MOST ARTISTIC EFFECTS FOR STAGE.

The sixth of a series by A. L. Powell on "Colored Lighting for the Motion Picture Theatre" in which is described the best means of securing artistic effects through modified lighting on the stage. Also the desirable equipment, the variety of mechanical means through which the desired effects may be obtained, and the principles to be considered when choosing the type of lighting for a particular production. In this article a detailed study of the footlight is made, including its advantages and limitations.

References: March 4, 1922, page 1407.

OPERATION AND FUNCTION OF APPLIANCES FOR STAGE LIGHTING.

The last article of the series by A. L. Powell, which takes up the actual mechanical construction of the various units used for securing stage lighting effects, their proper operation and function. A few examples are given to indicate how colored lighting can be applied with these devices in the most effective method.

References: March 11, 1922, page 1519.

IMPORTANCE OF PROPER ILLUMINATION OF THEATRE INTERIOR.

Results of research by the Eastman Kodak Company-Laboratory, giving a study of the best practice for theatre auditorium illumination, containing data and suggestions which may be found advantageous in planning the theatre lighting.

References: September 17, 1921, page 1519.

MOTOR GENERATOR

PROPER CARE AND OPERATION OF THE MOTOR GENERATOR EQUIPMENT.

By H. M. Candy, Engineering Dept., Westinghouse Mfg. & Elec. Co. The care and procedure of installation and operation as outlined in this article should save the exhibitor considerable expense, and the projectionist time and worry.

References: January 21, 1922, page 647.

MUSIC AND LIGHT

APPLICATION OF COLORED LIGHT IN CONNECTION WITH MUSIC.

A discussion by A. L. Powell on why the rapidly increasing number of motion picture theatres are adopting in some form or another the use of modified illumination to produce an atmosphere which is in harmony with the music. Mr. Powell has endeavored to point out the importance of this subject to the motion picture theatre, the wonderful opportunities for experimentation which it possesses, the fundamental points of similarity and difference between light and sound.

References: February 25, 1922, page 1277.

ORGANS

INSTALLATION AND PROPER CARE OF THE THEATRE ORGAN.

By H. J. Werner, president, American Photoplayer Company. An article that should prove very helpful through its general educational nature on the care, operation and installation of the theatre organ.

References: December 31, 1921, page 301.

PROJECTORS

USES OF THE FIVE GENERAL TYPES OF PROJECTORS.

A lecture by Don Carlos Ellis at Columbia University, giving a résumé of the uses of the large standard professional, semi-professional, portable or suit-case variety, safety standard type, of projector.

References: September 17, 1921, page 1526.

SCREENS (PROJECTION)SHAPE OF HOUSE MAIN FACTOR IN SELECTING SCREEN.*

Second phase of screen problem treated in the booklet of Eastman Kodak Company, entitled "The Motion Picture Theatre, Its Interior Illumination and the Selection of the Screen," giving a general discussion on the subject of sight lines and angles through which the screen is viewed and a recommendation for the proper selection of the screen best suited for the particular theatre.

References: November 5, 1921, page 2458.

VENTILATIONVENTILATION SYSTEM IS AN ASSET THAT PAYS DIVIDENDS.*

Article on ventilation system design and advantages by James F. Dailey, Monsoon Company, including short description of various types of installations.

A New Service

With this issue of the Booking Guide we introduce the Theatre Equipment Section which will be elaborated upon in future editions.

The reviews include articles treating of subjects pertaining to the technical phases of the Motion Picture Theatre such as colored lighting, music, ventilation, projection, etc.

An Innovation

WITH this issue we have inaugurated a new section in the Booking Guide which appears on pages 112 to 137.

This is a booking chart drawn up by weeks so that the theatre owner may have proper records of his current and future bookings while using the Booking Guide.

We believe that this addition will be greatly appreciated and will enhance the value of the Guide both as a current record and reference to pictures which have been shown in the past.
